

THE NEW YORK STORE

LACE GOODS

Our Stock in this Department far exceeds any previous season in the thirty-two years of our business. It is the opinion of all merchants that this will be a large lace goods season, and therefore we have bought largely in Laces and Embroideries in anticipation. Nothing adds so much to the beauty and elegance of a summer costume as a profusion of embroidery or lace.

We have White and Colored Embroideries in Swiss, Jaconet and Nainsook, in various widths and All Over to match.

Laces.

Spanish Ecru and Egyptian Flouncings, with Nainsook to match. Oriental Laces in White, Cream and Beige. Linen Laces, Medals and Torchon Laces, machine and hand made.

CITY IN BRIEF.

The latest progressive euchre club is "The Bow-Legged Club."

The Light Artillery will give a grand May party the night of the 1st at the new armory.

There will be an old-fashioned taffy-pulling at the Seventh Street M. E. Church tomorrow night.

The English Dancing Club meets Friday evening at the residence of Miss Mollie Bigelow, of North Illinois street.

Washington Lodge, No. 114, K. of H., will celebrate its eleventh anniversary at Pfaff's the evening of May 9 with a free entertainment.

The police are congratulating themselves that quite a number of thieves left the city as followers of Doris' show, but are fearful lest the entire gang return inside of two weeks.

The Mendelssohn Society will give a concert the 22d of May at Plymouth Church.

The society is arranging for the early production of the Eighteenth Psalm, for which Theodore Thomas is arranging the orchestral parts.

R. V. Breeding, of Parker's Grove, Ky., who has been night clerk at the Dixon House since January, left the city Friday morning and has not since been seen. He was making arrangements to purchase the hotel, and was said to have been engaged to a Miss Bright, of Shelby County, who is now here.

The Trustees' Association of St. Joseph's Church will hold a meeting this evening at 345 East North street to complete the arrangements for the lecture of Rev. F. C. Welchman, of Anderson, who will deliver a lecture on Thursday evening at St. Joseph's Church. Subject, "Intemperance." All the temperance societies of the city have been invited and will attend.

Mrs. G. A. Wells, Mrs. A. R. Mayo, Mrs. James Lodge, of the Second Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Eliza Newcomb and Miss Mamie Newcomb, of the Tabernacle Church; Mrs. W. W. Woolen, Mrs. T. C. Day, Mrs. J. A. Golding, of the First Presbyterian, and Mrs. Charles Meigs and Mrs. Janet Moore, of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, will attend the meeting of the Northwestern Missionary Conference at Chicago, which meets to-morrow and lasts two days.

BROKE HIS NECK.

Patrick Maley Falls Down the Globe House Stairs and is Killed—A Peculiar Case.

Patrick Maley, a day laborer, boarding at the Globe House, corner of South and Illinois streets, was found dead about 6 o'clock yesterday morning at the foot of the second flight of stairs. His head was on the floor, and his feet up the stair steps, from which fact it would seem that he had fallen down the steps during the night and broken his neck. He was about forty-eight years of age, and unmarried, and has been engaged in work on a brick house in the country. He has a brother living on South West street, to whose residence the remains were removed.

A Sentinel reporter visited the Globe House yesterday, and learned all that could be obtained concerning the matter. From statements made it seems that Maley was in a saloon about 10 o'clock Saturday night, and was seen to drink a glass of beer. Soon after this he went to his room, on the third floor, humming a tune as he went, which was his invariable custom. He was heard walking around in the room for some moments, when the noise ceased. About 2 o'clock yesterday morning he was again heard walking around the room, but beyond this no noise was heard. If he fell down the stairs, it would be reasonable to believe he was walking in his sleep were it not for the fact that he was dressed and had his boots on; while, on the other hand, it would seem improbable that he would make a mistake in the location of the stairway if he were awake, for he has been boarding there for eight months and knew every foot of the way through the house. How he could fall down the full length of the steps without arousing any one is also a mystery, unless his feet failed to strike the steps or the wall, and under the circumstances, this would be almost an impossibility. The position and condition in which he was found would rather indicate that he had been hurt and afterwards placed in that position, unless the theory that he was attacked with heart disease and had walked within six steps of the bottom before he fell can be believed. It is claimed that he was not drunk Saturday night, and that he had not been engaged in any row. The Coroner will investigate the matter.

AMUSEMENT MATTERS.

The engagement of the noted Carleton Opera Company is a big thing for Indianapolis.

To-night at English's, and throughout the remainder of the week, with matinees every day, the attraction will be the Smith Family of Swiss Bell Ringers, playing at cheap prices—ten and twenty cents. They come well recommended.

One of the most important engagements of the season is that of the famous Mexican Typical Orchestra, at the Grand Opera House, the last part of this week. No lover of all that is beautiful in music can afford to miss hearing them. They are simply great.

The attraction at the Grand Opera House to-night will be "The Galley Slave," Bartley Campbell's well-known romantic play, which is perfectly familiar to theater-goers. The cast embraces Miss Marjorie Bonner, Miss Virginia Bray, Miss Jordan, Miss Irving, Mr. E. R. Marston, Mr. James Bevine, Mr. W. J. Dickson, Mr. Banks, Mr. Andrews and Mr. Enos. Popular prices will prevail, and the house should, and no doubt will, be filled to overflowing.

The Dime Museum will open the week this afternoon with the following magnificent list of attractions: The living doll woman, Princess Lucy; the strange phenomenon, a living, talking skull; Thuma, the mystery—a woman's head which laughs, talks and sings without having body or limb; Chauncey Morlein, the Indianapolis fat boy—weight, over 400 pounds; Barney Nelson, the armless wonder, and many other attractions already noted at length in Sunday Sentinel.

The Indianapolis Lodge of Elks gave one of the best socials of the season, at their hall, last night. E. R. Frank Wade wielded the gavel in a highly satisfactory and graceful manner. The Lyra and Professor Kickenhoefer's orchestras doubled up, in all eighteen pieces, under the able leadership of Professor Kickenhoefer, rendering some of the best music listened to since the Elks' benefit. Selections from several favorite operas were given, which evoked loud and continuous applause. Recitations by Brother Lester Gabriel, Professor Bass and Mr. H. B. Hibberd were received with warm approbation by the large number of invited guests. Impromptu singing by Brother Frank Lehman and others. Bright bon-mots of wit flashed back and forth like meteors. Take it all in all never before in the annals of the lodge, or in the memory of those present, has a more enjoyable social been given in our city by the local Lodge of Elks, who are fast making for themselves a warm place in the hearts of our people.

Alberschmidt, Captain; John Ebner, Senior First Lieutenant; Edward Mueller, Senior Second Lieutenant; J. F. Scholl, Junior First Lieutenant; A. E. Kappler, Junior Second Lieutenant. Trustees, Otto Pfafflin, Andrew Bauman, B. Banwarth.

After Many Years.

Postmaster Jones took charge of the office yesterday, and at roll call at 8:30 J. H. Deery, superintendent of carriers, was introduced by Mr. Craft, who retires. Captain Dodd was present and delivered a short address to the carriers in which he took occasion to say that no changes were contemplated or would be made at present. There was a profusion of cigars. The remaining officers will be formally installed to-day.

May Charley Prosper Always.

Charles Dougherty, after sixteen years of service in the Sentinel office, leaves it this morning to take an appointment in the Postoffice. In going to his new place Charley takes with him the hearty good wishes of every person in whatever department of this paper. Although well along in years, he has lost but one day from duty during his sixteen years' connection with the Sentinel. His record has been one of faithful industry and rigid honesty. He is a Democrat, though limiting his partisan work to voting. We shall miss his cheerful face and active steps from the office, and he is assured a cordial welcome whenever he re-enters where he has been a worker so long.

Not Pure Coffee.

The following, copied from a postal card, was received by one of our large wholesale grocery houses on South Meridian street a few days since, viz:
